

284-305-

1912 Dates J-BK

Decision made on attempt to rebuild Palmyra

p 284-305

245-313AD

DIOCLETIAN

DIOCLETIAN GAIUS AURELIUS
VALERIUS DIOCLETIANUS.

It was he that divided the Empire into 2 parts, and later into four.
He took the East for his territory,
while Constantine CHLORUS he gave Britain, Gaul, and Spain. His reign was made notorious by his persecution of the Christians. He abdicated the throned in 305, eight years before his death.

284-305 A.D.

DIOCLETIAN

The emperor was supreme
The Senate was abolished and all forms of the Republic was discarded.

The Empire was ruled by 4 men
MAXIMIAN, CONSTANTINUS, GALERIUS and DIOCLETIAN.

The seat of the government had been moved from Rome to NICOMEDIA

in his main when position level in Oriental splendor.

There are three stations to maintain the 4 miles in the regal elegance.

Christian position was noted by position and continued for 10 years with the greatest civility position advocated (30542) and

starting during the hours 1st to 2nd strike from 306 to 324, ending when conditions became more under

284 AD

DIO CLETIANUS succeeded
Constantine and Numerianus

284

1912 Dates J-BK

Beginning of Divolution era.

NUMERIANUS accompanied his father CARUS to the East.

He was murdered by his father-in-law.

284-305

1912 Dates J-BK

Rome

Diocletian ruled the East from his court at NICOMEDIA in BITHYNIA;
entrusting the West to his co-regent
MAXIMIANUS

284-305

DIOCLETIAN and the TETRARCHY

After restoring the might of the emperor's office, DIOCLETIAN, from his eastern capital of NICOMEDIA, picked MAXIMIAN as co-emperor to rule the western empire from MILAN. Later, power was split again as two deputy caesars CONSTANTIUS and GALERIUS were appointed to help rule, each from his own capital.

284

Division was Counsel I

Counsel II - 285

Counsel III - 287

Counsel IV - 290

Counsel V - 293

Counsel VI - 296

Counsel VII - 299

Counsel VIII - 303

Counsel IX - 304

Counsel X - 308

Numerian and the imperial cortege continued on its way across Asia Minor towards Bosphorus.

Incapacitated and travelling in a closed litter, Numerian at last proved easy prey for his father-in-law: the unscrupulous praetorian Commander Lucius Flavius Aper, or so it was alleged. For some time, the murder remained undetected. The litter

Today Feb 21. There are thousands of men until the end of putrefaction could no longer be concealed.

Nov 284

Numenius was murdered near Nicomedia.

22-282

Divulhan outmaneuvered APER
outside NCOMEDIT & was proclaimed emperor by the troops.

284

Corneius campaigned in Britain, winning the title Britannicus Maximus
for his achievements

There was rise of a pretender in northern Italy - Julianus & Corneius marched against Julianus and defeated him near Verona at the beginning of 285

nr. 284

The death of Numerian left his elder brother Carinus still in control of the western provinces. Carinus had been promoted to the position of joint Augustus by his father Carus in the spring of 283.